

Skinwalker

The stories about skinwalker is both true and not true.

A human is a human and will always remain a human, just as any animal, plant or stone will always remain animals, plants or stones.
However a human can be overshadowed by an evil being such as a reptilian and appear to change shape for a short while.

But it is rare.

Equally, a human can dress in a bear skin or a wolf skin and walk about in the dark and people would mistake him for a skinwalker.
There are also evil creatures that can come into our reality and are sometimes photographed by trail cameras etc.
But the story of a human being capable of changing into an animal of some kind such as a werewolf is not true it is just legend.
